Possible answer

The home cinema of my dreams:

A high-resolution LCD screen, with a 45-inch display mounted on the wall of my living room. The system has a built-in TV tuner and a digital terrestrial television (DTT) receiver which lets me watch hundreds of channels.

Just below the screen there is a DVD recorder with a 200 GB hard drive and a new Blu-ray disc player which I use to record and play back movies.

As for sound capabilities, a Bose Acoustimass system includes five speakers and a subwoofer. An infrared transmission system enables me to enjoy high-quality surround sound and music without running wires from the front of the room to the rear speakers.
